Frequently Asked Questions

Do I need an instrument/the Deskbells to use Prodigies? No, there are hundreds of rhythm and solfege lessons that don't use an instrument and you can follow our bell lessons by singing, hand-signing or playing on any color coded instrument (piano, bells, xylo, Boomwhackers, our free Prodigies Bells app, etc).

What will my kids learn? There are many cognitive, social and emotional benefits to an early music education. Beyond that, young children are more prone to developing absolute pitch than other children and you'll quickly see your kids develop confidence around their newfound musical skills. Within Prodigies, they'll learn to sing with colors, numbers, letters, and solfege using familiar and fun songs. They'll discover how to keep a steady beat, play a variety of rhythms, and how to play their first instrument. Finally, they'll learn to sing with confidence, they'll practice the ever important skill of listening and they'll even do beginner composition and improvisation activities to help express themselves.

Who makes Prodigies? Prodigies is made with love by Mr. Rob, Ms. Sam and a small team of musicians, teachers & parents at Young Music LLC. If you like these series and want more, help us spread the word about Prodigies, and we'll keep creating lovable effective music lessons for your kiddos. #HappyMusicing
